Spring 2018 Group Tutor Sessions

Group Tutoring is FREE and available to all students enrolled in University of Delaware courses. Groups meet every week at the arranged time and place. For best results, attend each session.

Group tutoring is designed to complement and reinforce what you are learning in class. It will help you to develop strategies for dealing more successfully with your courses material.

NOTE: If a group session is cancelled for a specific date or there is a change in the day or room, it will be posted on this page. Please check regularly.
